And we lag behind to see,
how to go forward

without any urgency to be there.
